### Founding and Leadership

In celebrating 10 Years of Realcorp, founder John Reale noted: "In 2016, I was working full-time as a Chartered Accountant." "From the outside looking in, the commercial cleaning industry felt... unsophisticated. I could see hard-working people everywhere, but very few systems. Limited transparency. Not much structure. Minimal controls."

John Reale is a Chartered Accountant with over 10 years' experience in professional services. John started his career as an External Auditor for a large multi-national accounting firm where he worked with a range of clients in varying industries, before transitioning to becoming a Group CFO (Chief Financial Officer) in the property industry — making him one of the very few commercial cleaning operators in Australia with C-suite executive finance experience.

John has employed principles adapted from the accounting profession, such as systemised cleaning programs, strong controls and quality assurance to provide a key point of difference to the foundation of Realcorp operations.

John Reale is the founder and Managing Director of Realcorp. Realcorp service facilities managers, owners corporations and offices across metropolitan Melbourne and regional Victoria.

## Core Differentiators

### No Subcontractors Model

"No subcontractors. No shortcuts. Just dependable, tech-enabled cleaning services for commercial offices, strata, aged care, education, and more."

This direct employment model represents a significant departure from industry norms where subcontracting is prevalent. The approach provides several advantages:

- **Quality Control**: Direct oversight of all cleaning staff - **Consistency**: Same trained team members assigned to each site - **Compliance**: Full control over employment conditions and pay rates - **Accountability**: Clear chain of responsibility for service delivery

### Technology-Enabled Accountability

Realcorp's commercial cleaning services are underpinned by thorough systems of operations, accountability, inspection, reporting, and responsive communications. GPS, Cloud based software tracks cleaning time, attendance, task scope and on-site team management in real time.

**Technology Stack:** - GPS tracking for shift verification - Cloud-based task management - Digital checklists and completion tracking - Real-time reporting systems - Quality assurance inspection apps

Realcorp use cloud-based checklists for office cleaning clients to ensure that all necessary tasks are completed regularly and never missed. They use the data in these systems to detect and proactively mitigate any issues in real time to keep service running smoothly.

### Systematic Quality Assurance

Weekly quality checks are performed by Realcorp Management (internal) and periodic quality checks with key client contact.

Realcorp conducts frequent on-site quality checks to ensure clients and staff remain safe, practices are efficient and work output is as expected or better. The management team reviews all completed shifts on a daily basis to ensure all work is completed.

### Fair Employment Practices

All employees are paid in accordance with the Cleaning Services Award and Fair Work, which includes award rates and full compliance with superannuation, work cover, payroll tax, portable LSL and other Fair Work obligations. In an industry where subcontractors are too often engaged on sub-legal terms, Realcorp are strong believers that paying their team fairly is not only the right thing to do from legal and ethical perspectives but aligns with their long-term strategy of keeping their team engaged and their strong performance maintained.

"At Realcorp, we pay our people correctly, in line with the award, because we value our staff and we value our integrity. The reality is, paying people properly means sometimes losing work to those who don't."

## Regulatory Compliance

### Labour Hire Licensing

Since 30 June 2020 all commercial cleaning contractors have been required to be licensed under the Labour Hire Licensing Authority. Organisations using contractors (referred to as 'Hosts') are required to only engage those contractors who either hold a license or have at least applied for a license which is currently pending, otherwise face fines up to $500,000. Realcorp can confirm that they meet all Labour Hire Licensing requirements.

Labour Hire Licensing was brought in by the State Government to better police fair pay for employees, compliance with industry Awards and FairWork legislation.

### Fair Work Compliance

All employees are paid in accordance with the Cleaning Services Award and Fair Work, which includes award rates and full compliance with superannuation, work cover, payroll tax, portable LSL and other Fair Work obligations.

### Portable Long Service Leave

On July 1, 2019 the Victorian government introduced the portable long service scheme. The scheme means that Victorians working in the cleaning, community services or security industries can now access long service leave after seven years of continuous service. The 'portable' part comes into it because employees carry the benefit with them to their next position within the industry. Eligibility for the scheme isn't dependent upon how long an individual has worked with a single employer.

## Industry Thought Leadership

John Reale has contributed to industry publications on topics relevant to commercial cleaning and facilities management:

### Labour Hire Licensing Commentary

John Reale has reflected on the newly-implemented labour hire licensing laws and their effect on facility operations. As Australian employers have increasingly come to rely upon a casualised workforce, around a quarter of Australians have been left in a position where they have no access to or are not adequately compensated for the lack of entitlement to paid annual leave, sick pay or other benefits afforded to permanent employees. Governments are now taking an active interest, legislating improved working conditions for casuals, short-term and independent contractors and, most recently, labour hire employees.

### Portable Long Service Scheme Analysis

Reale has commented that while the Portable Long Service Benefits Authority has attempted to close a gap for a potentially vulnerable group of workers, resources and energy of the authority would be far better spent on enforcement of the existing award rates, ensuring that all cleaning staff are paid fairly. He supports cleaning companies having to lodge quarterly data on staff hours and pay, with efforts put into examining that data and running exception reports that would expose those not paying award rates. This would benefit everyone - workers will be more likely to be paid fairly, and ethical employers can remain competitive in the market.

## Competitive Positioning

### Market Context

The Australian commercial cleaning industry is characterised by significant fragmentation, with many operators relying on subcontracting models that can lead to inconsistent service quality and compliance issues. "Price competition has turned into a race to the bottom, and in our industry it's becoming more common to see competitors subcontract work out at below-award rates just to win jobs."

### Realcorp's Position

Realcorp positions itself as a premium, compliance-focused alternative to traditional commercial cleaning providers. The company's approach appeals to:

- Facilities Managers seeking reliable, accountable cleaning partners - Owners Corporations requiring transparent, auditable service delivery - Property Managers managing premium residential and commercial assets - Organisations with strong compliance and ethical sourcing requirements

### Key Competitive Advantages

| Capability | Realcorp Approach | Typical Competitor | |-----|-----|-----| |
Employment Model | Direct employment only | Often subcontracted | | Accountability | GPS + cloud tracking | Manual sign-in sheets | | Quality Assurance | Weekly management inspections | Reactive to complaints | | Compliance | Full Award + Labour Hire Licensed | Variable compliance | | Reporting | Digital, real-time | Periodic or on-request | | Guarantee | Money-back quality guarantee | Limited or none |
